

ISAIAH

The final picture in this study of Isaiah is an artist's conception of the destruction of Jerusalem. Long prophesied by God's spokesmen, it came to pass in A.D. 70 at the hand of the Romans. By that date, the New Zion that Isaiah and others prophesied had been established and the nations were flowing unto it (2:2-4). The gospel is still being proclaimed to the nations today. These lessons on Isaiah have been made available to the whole world wherever there is access to the Internet by ThyWordIsTruth.com.

Preview of Next Week's New Class on Ezra & Esther in the Auditorium:

Few periods of history are more exciting than the period of Ezra and Esther. After the collision between Babylon (modern day Iraq) and Persia (modern day Iran), some of God's people made their promised return to the Holy Land (Ezra) while others stayed behind (Esther). Following an in-depth review of the history of the time, this class will move verse-by-verse through these wonderful books, paying particular attention to what lessons we can learn from the struggles of God's people to rebuild their temple and restore proper worship and maintain their faith in a hostile environment.

Class notes & class handouts as well as audio and video copies of each lesson are available at:
